your dreaded 'honey-do' lists

"One call, big or small," is the motto of Handy Helpers handyman service and property maintenance out of Kennebunkport.

Robert and Marie Fairbanks saw a need in the community for someone willing and able to tackle peoples to do lists. "I love working with people and I want to put my experience to work," Robert says. Experience gained while owning and maintaining his own real-estate, which he began acquiring in the 90's as a hobby.

During the winter Robert will not only plow a client's driveway, he will also sand and salt the area, shovel walkways, decks, steps and even clear snow from a client's vehicle.

"Winter is a lot of work for seniors and sometimes they just can't get out and do it," he says.

Robert also does carpentry work and light painting. In the past he's built sheds, canoe racks and staircases just to name a few. Especially in the beach area, it is common for him to have to replace rotting decks and handrails, windows and screen doors.

During the summer Robert will perform light yard care including mowing, spring and fall cleanup and removing fallen limbs and trees. He also has a large commercial tiller for home gardens.

Handy Helpers gladly accepts junk removal projects as well. They make sure that anything that can be recycled is, whether its metal scraps or items in good shape that can be brought to the Salvation Army.

The list of jobs they will perform for a client is endless. Robert once spent two days in a client's home hanging mirrors and pictures. He'll even clean gutters, put out the garbage and set and change mouse-traps if that is what his client wants. While Robert takes care of those jobs, his wife Marie does housekeeping and errands for clients, such shopping or driving them to a doctor's appointment.

"We have a fantastic relationship with our clients and consider them more as friends," Robert says.

Many of their clients are out of state and hire the couple to not only perform much-needed tasks, but to act as a local presence to watch their homes.

Marie offers clients itemized statements and often communicates via email, a convenience for those out of state.

Robert has invested in new equipment, including a plow and cargo trailer. He also recently hired a helper who Roberts describes as extremely capable and excited to learn.

Robert says he and his wife are very accessible to their clients, "we are their neighbors". They are also fully insured and offer free estimates.

Remember, one call, big or small, gets any job done in and outside of your home. Call Handy Helpers today at 967-2172 and leave the work to Robert and Marie!
